WHAT ANALYSTS SAY ABOUT GARANTI?

Ak Invest

We like Garanti Bank with its more sheltered position against volatility in TRY rates, thanks to an efficiently managed maturity gap and effective of swap funding, its high capital adequacy and solid asset quality.

Barclays

Garanti is recognized as a technology leader. Even its parent BBVA, which is seen as one of the best technology innovators among global banks, is highly complementary about Garanti’s IT know how.

Citi Research

We see Garanti as the industry benchmark on revenue and cost efficiency and, along with its high free funds base, it commands one of the highest ROAs in the system. We also appreciate Garanti’s low balance sheet leverage and strong capital position.

Credit Suisse

Garanti has relatively strong capital and profitability supported by the increasing contribution of its subsidiaries. These should provide flexibility to the bank in the long term.

HSBC

The key differentiating factor for Garanti versus its peers is relatively stronger revenue generation ability.

Merrill Lynch

We expect Garanti to continue delivering highest ROE among our Turkish banks coverage over the medium term (partly on strong subsidiary contribution). Garanti is also one of the best-capitalized banks in Turkey.

Oyak

Garanti is our top pick as we think it is one of the best positioned among peers to manage spreads in a volatile and high rate environment. Garanti has a structural funding advantage with free funds (demand deposits + free capital) highest among peers. Such free funding becomes even more important in terms of NIM when asset yields are higher.

Societe Generale

What we see is that our preferred stock Garanti continues to stand out as offering the most value within the sector. For investors prepared to take the plunge, Garanti’s prudent mid-term planning, continuity of management and benchmark status probably offers the best risk/reward opportunity in our opinion.

MACRO NOTES

2Q15 Growth was 3.8%. Annual GDP growth rate in 2Q15 was 3.8% (expectation: 3.3%). Domestic demand including stocks contributed 4.9 pp to growth while external demand lowered growth as in the previous two quarters. In this period, stocks contributed negatively by 1.9 pp in line with the rapid acceleration in domestic demand. Private consumption expenditures accelerated remarkably while private investment expenditures reached its highest growth since 2011. Public expenditures made a positive contribution to growth for the first time after two quarters mainly through consumption expenditures. The contribution from total consumption expenditures accelerated to the highest level of the last 6 quarters by 4.4 pp in 2Q15, while total investment expenditures also made a positive contribution to growth by 2.4 pp in this period.

Slower Growth in 3Q. Real exports increased slightly by 1% (YoY) in the first two months of 3Q, while real imports increased by 4%. Thus, domestic demand remains strong, while external demand signals a weak outlook. Industrial production jumped in August, mostly thanks to automobile sector taking the growth of July-August up to 5%. However, preliminary indicators point out that IP growth will slow down remarkably in 3Q15 by September data. Calendar effect will have a significant role on this decline. We expect 2015 annual GDP growth to be at 2.8%.

Current Account Deficit (CAD) Shrinks. 12-month CAD decreased from US$ 44.0 billion (5.7% of GDP) at the end of 2Q15 to US$ 43 billion in August. In August, 12-month-cumulative net energy bill was US$ 40 billion, the lowest level recorded since Apr' 11. Ministry of Customs and Trade preliminary data suggest that in September foreign trade deficit will have another sharp decline. Thus, overall in 3Q, together with the improvement in the energy bill, the current account deficit will decline to around 5.5% of GDP. We expect CAD to GDP ratio to decline to 5% at the end of the year.

Slight Deterioration in Budget Figures. 3Q15 figures suggest that there was only a slight deceleration in tax revenues. Non-interest expenditures annual growth accelerated from 11% to 16% from 2Q15. The significant slowdown in goods and services procurements and the contraction in investment expenditures in 3Q15 was noteworthy to signal a lower public contribution to 3Q15 GDP growth. As a percentage of GDP (with our estimate of 2.5% GDP growth), budget deficit/GDP may rise from 1.0% in 2Q15 to 1.3% 3Q15 with a decline in primary surplus/GDP from 1.9% to 1.7% in this period. The realization is still in line with the new estimates of the Medium Term Program (budget deficit/GDP: 1.3% and primary surplus/GDP: 1.5% year-end).

EU Defined Public Debt Decreased. In 2Q15, gross external debt stock/GDP ratio was 52.4%, up from 49.5% in 1Q15. EU-defined public debt stock/GDP ratio decreased slightly from 33.8% to 33.7% in the same period.

Inflation at 7.3% in 3Q15. Annual CPI inflation (average) decreased from 7.7% in 2Q15 to 7.3% in 3Q15, while end of period inflation increased to 7.95% in September from 7.1% in August. Annual food inflation (average) decelerated to 9.8% in 3Q15 from 12.3% in 2Q15. Annual core inflation (average) increased from 7.3% in 2Q15 to 7.7% in 3Q15.

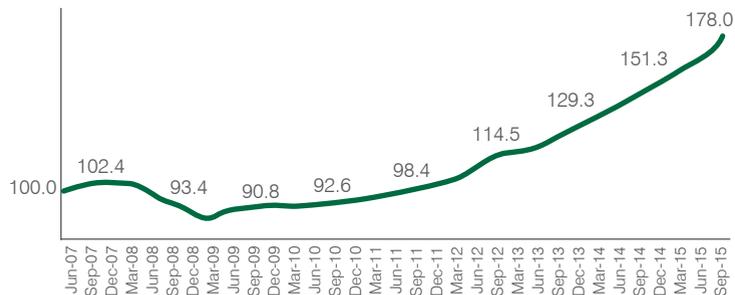

No Change in Interest Rates in 3Q15. CBRT has not changed its key interest rates since the meeting held in February. Hence the policy rate, O/N lending rate and O/N borrowing rate stand at 7.5%, 10.75% and 7.25%, respectively. However, the CBRT has prepared a roadmap for "normalizing" the interest rates at August meeting. The roadmap is conditioned to the Fed's interest rate hike. The CBRT will narrow down the interest rate corridor and make it more symmetric around the policy rate. We expect the CBRT to move up the policy rate during normalization time.

TL depreciated by 20% YoY against currency basket in 3Q on average vs. 12% YoY depreciation on average in 2Q. Benchmark bond yields increased to 10.5% in 3Q, which was at 9.7% on average in 2Q15. The 3Q-end benchmark bond yield was 11.5%.

Regulatory developments during the quarter:

CBRT left interest rates unchanged and CBRT hinted that it would not act before the Fed. The Bank also released a road map towards the simplification of monetary policy. Accordingly, CBRT would like to simplify its interest rate policy, narrow the rate corridor, and go back to using a single policy rate without delivering a tightening or a loosening in liquidity conditions.

Central Bank made some fine-tuning in the banks' required reserve ratios and FX transaction limits in line with its "Road Map Covering the Normalization of Global Monetary Policies", announced on August 18th. Accordingly;

- Reserve requirement ratios for FX non-core liabilities revised to incentivize maturities of longer than three years. (Rise in RRRs (i) for FX non-core liabilities with 1-year to 25% from 20%, (ii) 2-year to 20% from 14%, (iii) 3-year to 15% from 8%)
- Transaction limits of the banks in the CBRT Foreign Exchange & Banknotes Markets increased by ~130% to US$ 50 billion.
- Remuneration rate for the TL Reserve requirements raised by 150 bps in total (50 bps increments at the beginning of September, October and December) in a bid to reduce the intermediation costs of the banking sector and support core liabilities.

CBRT also increased upper limit of FX selling auction amount to US$ 70 million from US$ 30 million due to elevated volatility in global financial markets. The amount of foreign exchange selling auctions will be set on a daily basis depending on the conditions in the FX market.

CBRT left the 'interest rate cap' and 'overdue interest rate' on credit card transactions unchanged for 4Q15; TL rates 2.02% and 2.52% per month, respectively; and FX rates 1.62% and 2.12% per month, respectively.

Rating actions during the quarter:

On Turkey's sovereign ratings:

- On August 7th, Moody's left Turkey's credit rating and outlook unchanged on its pre-scheduled Turkey rating assessment. Moody's rates Turkey at Baa3 (lowest investment grade level) with a negative outlook.
- On August 28th, JCR affirmed Turkey's investment grade sovereign rating of BBB- and "Stable" outlook.
- On September 18th, Fitch also kept Turkey's investment grade rating of "BBB-" with stable outlook.

Following the BBVA deal, Fitch upgraded Garanti's ratings by one notch on July 31st. The upgrade is driven by support from BBVA considering its control of the bank and Garanti's high strategic importance for the BBVA group.

Other developments:

The transfer of Garanti's 14.89% share capital from Dogus Group to BBVA had been completed on July 27th. As a result, BBVA's stake in Garanti reached 39.9% while Dogus Group's interest decreased to 10%.

Halkbank announced that the tender process for the block sale of its shares in "Halk Sigorta" and "Halk Hayat ve Emeklilik" were cancelled by The Privatization Administration (PA). Halkbank's stake in Halk Gayrimenkul Yatırım Ortaklığı A.Ş. (Halk REIT) increased to 78.30% from 78.07%.

MARKET RECAP

Global equities had a tough start in the third quarter with the Greek sovereign debt crisis. Sentiment further deteriorated upon the negative news-flow from China. Devaluation of Yuan intensified concerns that the world's second largest economy could be heading for a deeper slowdown. Fed's long-awaited rate hike within the frame of the US policy normalization did not happen in 3Q. In addition to the US data, Chinese data and the global outlook began to be more critical on the timing of the first rate hike. In August, Chinese equity markets declined, and China's Black Monday triggered panic sell-off globally. Consequently, major Asian economies devaluated, the commodity prices declined to a 13-year low, MSCI EM Index sank to its lowest since 2009 and S&P erased almost its entire gains for the year. EM currencies continued to be weak against US$. Currency weakness sent total returns into the red almost across the board, including Brazil, Russia, South Africa and Turkey.

Emerging markets recorded negative quarterly returns where China, Brazil and Russia underperformed their peers significantly in 3Q15. MSCI Russia decreased by 17.1%, mainly as a result of more than 20% decline in oil price in the quarter. MSCI Brazil declined by 34.0%, not only because of the decreasing commodity prices, but also because of the political instability, high budget deficit, deterioration in inflation and the growth outlook. Finally, Brazil's sovereign rate cut to junk by Standard & Poor's in September, took a toll on EM equities. Diminishing risk appetite for EM assets resulted MSCI EM Index to close the quarter 10.6% below the MSCI World Index.

MSCI Turkey slightly underperformed MSCI EM by 1.2% in 3Q. Although, Turkey decoupled from its peers when commodity prices declined, it was unable to take full advantage of the situation due to weaker than anticipated macro indicators. The inflation continued to rise (with increased FX pass-through) and growth remained to be under pressure. Recent CBRT surveys indicated higher inflation expectation for the year end, the government revised down its 2015 growth expectation in its Medium Term Plan to 3% from 4% while continued political uncertainty and the rise of terrorism fears heavily weighed on investor sentiment. Domestic risks, accompanied with global risks, took a toll on TRY. TRY, as one of the worst performing EM currencies against US$, hit record low levels and depreciated by another 13.3% in 3Q15. CBRT kept the interest rate corridor as is and hinted that it would not act before the Fed. The Bank tightened monetary policy via liquidity management and increased the average funding rate by around 40 bps to 9.0% level. CBRT also released a road map towards the simplification of its monetary policy. In September, the benchmark interest rate hit 11.89%, the highest level since July 2009, and closed the quarter at 10.97%.

Into the last quarter of the year, with expectations of Fed interest rate hikes pushed further back investors seem to restore their appetite for riskier assets. High volatility in the Chinese market and low growth concerns seem to be calming down, with additional easing policy considerations on the agenda of the ECB and BOJ. While the Turkish markets are impacted positively from this shift in sentiment, Turkey keeps ranking at the vulnerable end among its EM peers due to the ongoing political uncertainty. Formation of a sustainable government that will enact necessary structural reforms and implement policies for a sustainable economic growth will play a crucial role on alleviating foreign investors' concerns.
